

Photos for Mac

At the 5/12/2015 CMUG meeting, Chris Whittier talked about the new Photos app for Mac that recently became available to all Mac users who upgraded to Yosemite 10.10.3.

Chris Kent mentioned several places on the internet that had more information about Photos. Below are links she mentioned.

iMore.com - Good series of articles from Serenity Caldwell and the knowledgeable staff at iMore: <http://www.imore.com/photos-os-x>

Macworld - search for "Photos for Mac" at the Macworld website and you'll find lots of articles there. This link is to an article about merging and consolidating your iPhoto libraries into the new Photos app:

<http://www.macworld.com/article/2909654/how-to-import-merge-and-consolidate-your-libraries-in-photos-for-os-x.html>

MacSparky.com - David Sparks has written several excellent iBooks Field Guides and is a well respected Mac geek from way back. On his website he announces his latest tutorial entitled Photos Video Field Guide. This is a 2 ½ hour screencast of Dave walking you through the ins and outs of using the new Photos app. At the bottom of this webpage you'll find a free 30 minute preview of his screencast.:
<http://macsparky.com/photos/>

Mac Power Users Podcast - An excellent source of info on how to ramp up your Mac skills with David Sparks and Katie Floyd. This link is the latest episode of the podcast and coincidentally they discuss at length the Photos App for Mac. #255: Photos.app and Photo Management: <http://www.relay.fm/mpu/255>

Take Control eBooks - The latest book in the excellent selection of ebook titles is Photos for Mac: A Take Control Crash Course by Jason Snell:
<http://www.takecontrolbooks.com/photos-crash-course>

Six Colors - Jason Snell's website where you will find lots of articles about everything Apple. This link is to one of several of his articles about Photos:
<http://sixcolors.com/post/2015/02/photos-for-mac-quick-answers-to-simplified-questions/>